Background:

Dr. Ramesh in his very early stages of his training as a Medical Student from KGMC, Lucknow, India could not understand how the instruction pattern to living systems was being transmitted. He also wondered why people became sick as they aged. He also noticed that many people in their old age were highly energetic and healthy. It is with this in mind that he went ahead in search of his quest in prevention of disease and aging. He is also a certified age management physician dealing with the Science of Youthful Aging.

During his search he went to several teachers, did conventional medical training as well as studied ancient non-conventional and futuristic techniques. He was able to identify what is the connection all the way with the source, how the information systems are transmitted to our body, how we are connected to our environment. This also give a clear understanding of why one creates disease for oneself, how one can prevent disease, how one can reverse the disease. This knowledge came about from quantum physics.

Energy sciences and Quantum Physics led him to understand how we could prevent disease naturally by learning how to source our energies from air, water, food, sleep and environment. This understanding started showing how when we started reversing disease processes we started becoming younger and younger shedding our body programs and getting connected with ALL THAT IS.

The recent medical understanding is that aging is a disease due to the deficiency of our hormones and collection of toxins. The same could be reversed not only by energetic techniques, but also with the medical techniques of life style management, breathing technologies, structured water technologies, dietary supplement uses, anti oxidant use, natural stimulation of endocrine glands and lastly if absolutely necessary, hormone replacements to speed up the process.

An FCP [Fractal Science Practitioner] is one whose very presence should evoke the inner healing process in individuals. The very look they give at the affected part, should trigger the reversing of the disease process. If a FCP can trigger a total healing at all levels; that is at Physical, Mental, Emotional and Spiritual level then he can be considered as a true FCP.
